Saloons, bar and spa

The train's saloons are each named after a former princely state, from Alwar and Bikaner to Jaisalmer and Kota, with interiors inspired by their royal heritage. A dedicated butler looks after every saloon day and night.

Between sightseeing days you can unwind in the bar car or book a treatment in the on-board spa.

Dining on board

Two restaurants serve the train. Sheesh Mahal glitters with traditional mirror work and offers international dishes alongside Rajasthani and Marwari specialities, while Swarn Mahal is dressed in rich golden tones with fine linen and soft lighting.

Some of the most memorable meals happen off the train: lunch at a lakeside hotel in Udaipur, dinner under the desert sky near Jaisalmer, and breakfast in a historic palace at Bharatpur.
